Upon his retirement the band was taken over by captain David Cole. It has an excellent choice of titles of the sort that you would probably hear at one of their concerts. FOX'S MARINES Featuring "Sound The Alert"

The Band and Bugles of HM Royal Marines Double Compact Disc £14.50

This is a curious double CD as it has, as its second CD, a recording which was originally on sale in the early 1990s. The introduction in the booklet reads: "Bugle calls, bugle marches and bugle fanfares have, for many centuries, been a requirement of the military for signals, for music and for ceremony. Mainly associated with the bands of the Light Infantry Regiments and the Royal Marines it is sad to relate that very few bands are able to present them with the skill and panache that, until recent cuts to military bands, were once commonplace. On this recording, members of a Band Service that can claim to be one of the greatest exponents of this style of military music play many examples - whilst also paying tribute to the many fine Buglers who, with their bands, once regularly played such music. The Buglers of the Royal Marines have chosen marches that are not only related to their own Corps but also many that are well known to aficionados of British Army military music. If you like bugle calls, marches and fanfares, this is for you. Playing time CD1 67 minutes 1 second

THE GURKHAS FESTIVAL OF MUSIC 2008

The Band of the Brigade of Gurkhas, the Old Comrades and The Corps Drums of HM Royal Marines, Lympstone

Conductors: by Major Wayne Oplah and Phil Hughes

Compact Disc only £10.00

Each year there is a two day concert with this band in the Nye Hall at the Duke of York's Royal Military School in Dover. Such is the popularity of this Folkestone based band that the concert is normally a sell out on both days. 2008 was a unique occasion when the Old Comrades was asked to mass with this world famous band. The Old Comrades is a band based in Deal, UK, that was formed by the author of this web site, Stephen Misson. The band consists of retired former Royal Marines Band musicians that still reside in the Deal area with the intention of performing just one charity concert with no rehearsals on the Deal Memorial Bandstand in 2005. Such was the popularity of this event that the concert has become an annual affair. The band was honoured to be chosen to mass with the Brigade of Gurkhas and we venture to think that both bands benefited from this alliance. The bands were joined by the Corps of Drums from Commando Training Centre, Royal Marines, Lympstone and soprano Margaret Threadgold. A donation from each sale of this CD is for the Gurkha Welfare Trust and Children with Disabilities. There is also a DVD available filmed by the amateur Deal Camera Club.

The programme of music has been carefully selected to reflect Haslar's remarkable story and to recall the numerous doctors, surgeons, medical branch and sick berth staff, especially the members of the legendary QARNNS and Voluntary Aid Detachments who were trained and equipped for their demanding roles worldwide supported by Haslar's civilian staff. KINGS OF THE MARCH

Royal Marines School of Music, Deal, Lt Col F Vivian Dunn

Compact Disc only £11.00

A new compilation issued in the closing days of 2001 by the Royal Marines Historical Society. The purpose of this CD is to mark the centenary of the Royal Marines Band Service (1903) and was the brainchild of EMI recording engineer Brian Culverhouse who was responsible for so many of the recordings made at the famous Abbey Road Studios. And what better way of marking the occasion than to present marches by the British and American 'March Kings', Alford and Sousa. The tracks from the two LPs Colonel Bogey Marches On (CSD1282 released 1959) and the Royal Marines Play Sousa (TWO235 released 1968) have been digitally re-mastered and are very clean and crisp. We are particularly fond of the comprehensive inlay which gives a good write-up on all the tracks.

Jollies; Army of the Nile; The Standard of St. George; El Capitan; Solid Men To The Front; Hail to the Spirit of Liberty; The Belle of Chicago; The National Game; Sound Off; The Gladiator; The Thunderer; The Gridiron Club; The New York Hippodrome; King Cotton.

MUSIC FOR THE MILLENNIUM

Royal Marines Plymouth

Compact Disc £11.00

Released October 1999, this superb CD is contemporary music of major proportions. It has only three pieces upon it the first has three movements and the third has four movements; the second is a single item. This is for serious military band connoisseurs and needs to be listened to carefully to appreciate the magnitude of the works and fine playing. The second movement of the first piece “The Big Apple (A New York Symphony)” is called “Times Square” and is of street sounds of New York recorded by the composer with assorted percussion backing. It is certainly different! Tracks as follows: The Big Apple; a name perpetual; Dance Movements – Philip Sparke. Listen to it alone, uninterrupted and with headphones in a darkened room – fantastic!

THE ROYAL MARINES PLAY SOUSA Vol 1

Royal Marines School of Music – Lieutenant Colonel G A C Hoskins

Compact Disc — £11.00

In the mid 1980s the then pd, Lt Col Graham Hoskins produced three LPs for EMI featuring the marches of Sousa titled Stars and Stripes Forever, Hands Across the Sea and Solid Men to the Front. These very popular LPs sold extremely well for many years until the market for those black plastic discs ceased and gave way to the compact disc. What made those recordings different from other Sousa recordings was because Graham had access to the historic Sousa library and was thus able to recreate the sounds that Sousa originally intended.

*Graham remarks in the inlay that Sousa's "music was often not meant to be performed 'on the march' but more often for concert stage performance and the items were written for specific occasions and at the behest of benefactors." Thus in Manhattan Beach one can hear the wavelets rippling on the seashore whilst a band approaches, passes and disappears into the distance and in Liberty Bell the sound of the bell is a noticeable feature — one reason for it being played so regularly on Classic Fm. Here in volume one we have twenty three of the tracks from those original three LPs which form a taster for volume two to be soon released. Playing time: 65 minutes 28 seconds.

The Washington Post; The Liberty Bell; The Black Horse Troop; The Crusader; The Fairest of the Fair; The High School Cadets; The Rifle Regiment; The Invincible Eagle; The Northern Pines; On the Campus; Jack Tar; Manhattan Beach; Marquette University; The Beau Ideal; The Royal Welch Fusiliers; The Charlatan; Nobles of the Mystic Shrine; La Flor de Sevilla; The Glory of the Yankee Navy; The Lambs; Semper Fidelis; The Stars and Stripes Forever.

RUSSIAN WIND BAND CLASSICS

Royal Northern College of Music Wind Orchestra

Conductor: Clark Rundell

Compact Disc — £12.95

*As specialist in military recordings and the Royal Marines in particular, there would have to be a special reason for including a CD from an establishment such as the Royal Northern College of Music. The reason is that this is special; it is a fine recording of (as it says on the tin) Russian classics. It is a fine choice of programme beautifully played. If you are the sort of person that only likes marches then this is probably not for you, but if you like serious, orchestral-type playing, then this will be right up your street. This CD carries a 100% recommendation. You will like it. Playing time: 69 minutes 27 seconds.

SOUNDS SPECTACULAR

ROYAL MARINES SCHOOL OF MUSIC, DEAL and THE PIPES AND DRUMS OF THE ARGYLL & SUTHERLAND HIGHLANDERS – Conductor: Lt Col Graham Hoskins

Compact Disc £11.00

In 1985, the then Principal Director of Music Graham Hoskins took his band on a 16,000 mile tour of North America together with the Pipes and Drums of the Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders. A recording of the programme of music was issued on LP and cassette which, at the time, was our best selling recording, titled "The Spectacular Sounds of the Royal Marines and the Pipes and Drums of the Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders". No wonder it has been renamed with just two words! Now the recording has been digitally remastered by the Eastney Collection, the Royal Marines Historical Society and is available on CD together with a very comprehensive inlay containing nine pages of history by Col Hoskins with photographs plus much other material. Quote from the Eastney Collection: "Some of the finest military band and bagpipe music played by two of the best bands in the world. This album includes all the favourites with fanfares and drum beatings to complete a thoroughly spectacular presentation. These recordings will set the pulse racing and feet tapping - which was certainly the case when these two bands played at the Royal Tournament and later toured North America." The Art of the Military Band Vol 2

ROYAL MARINES SCHOOL OF MUSIC, DEAL – Conductor: Lt Col F Vivian Dunn

In addition to the fourteen marches there are three additional tracks from the celebrated 1968 Royal Tournament which featured a huge massed bands plus a 90 strong Royal Marines symphony orchestra and The Oceanaires dance band—a sight never again repeated, and we strongly suspect will never again be repeated. This CD, as does volume one gets our thorough recommendation. Playing time 59 minutes 06 seconds.

Compact Disc £11.00*

*This major recording of symphonic wind band music is the second in this series, the first being 'Harrison's Dream'. An ambitious departure from the usual repertoire of Royal Marines bands, this CD is a must for all those who appreciate the technical skills and musicianship of RM musicians. Recorded at: HMS Raleigh, Cornwall. This is serious music indeed, and forms part of the foundation of a portfolio submission by Lt Col Davis for the award of Doctor of Musical Arts from the University of Salford. THE BANDS OF HER MAJESTY'S ROYAL MARINES

MASSED BANDS OF THE BRITISH ARMY

DVD – £15.95

Volume two. Music has always been an element in the life of a soldier. From Joshua's trumpets blowing down the walls of Jerico to the ceremony of Beating Retreat, or simply a march through the streets — pipes, drums, bands and bagpipes have stirred soldier and civilian alike.

From early in the sixteenth century the sound of a drum was used for the order of retreat each evening as dusk approached. As time progressed another custom called 'tattoo' arrived. This was the beating of the drums to order soldiers to their quarters. The drum was embellished from time to time by various musical instruments playing tunes to make a more cheerful sound than the lone drum. That sound is still with us today and captured within the DVD compilation of the bands of the British Army.

BANDS OF THE ROYAL AIR FORCE

DVD – £15.95

Volume three. The RAF bands were formerly established in 1920 and have always been regarded as a focus of unit identity and a boost to general morale.

A lot has happened in the relatively short history of the RAF music services which spans only 60 years. It has achieved remarkable success as a pathfinder and a pacesetter in British military band music which is captured within this DVD.

At its peak the RAF music service boasted ten established bands, however in line with the Army and the Navy, the number of bands and personnel have been halved but still retain their reputation for excellence in playing all types of music.

THE 2006 EDINBURGH MILITARY TATTOO

DVD – £17.95

The Edinburgh Military Tattoo was conceived in its present form and first performed in 1950. Today, with its unique blend of music, ceremony, entertainment, and theatre, set against the amazing backdrop of Edinburgh Castle is without question one of the world's greatest shows. A cornucopia of international talent including, for the first time, military and civilian performance from Chile and China, helped bring down the final curtain on 12 years of Brigadier James Jamison's time as the Edinburgh Tattoo's Chief Executive and producer, at this year's 57th showpiece military event. With over 1000 performers featuring a Ugandan orphan choir, South American National Ballet Company artistes, 80 Nepalese musicians and the new Royal Regiment of Scotland, the show embraced a magical mix of pizzazz and humour, together with all the ceremonial pomp and splendour for which the tattoo is globally recognized. Along with the largest gathering of pipes and drums ever The to grace the esplanade of Edinburgh Castle were two of the finest military bands in the world, the Regimental Bands of the Scots Guards and the Coldstream Guards. While from overseas, the ever-popular New Zealand Army Band, Switzerland's Top Secret Drum Corps and a talented group of young South African highland dancers, also contributed to the popular 90-minute production.

Combined with sophisticated twenty first century projection technology to help tell the story of 370 years of Scotland's soldiery as well as award-winning music from Disney's worldwide phenomenon the Lion King, the 2006 extravaganza offered a unique and memorable spectacle of music, ceremony, and entertainment.

THE 2007 EDINBURGH MILITARY TATTOO

THE WORLD'S MOST SPECTACULAR SHOW

Music, colour and spectacle were assured at this year's 58th Edinburgh Tattoo when 500 musicians, 200 dancers, a 150-strong Taiwanese group, 35 motorcycles and 30 horses came together against the famous backdrop of Edinburgh Castle for new Tattoo Chief Executive and Producer, Major General Ewan Loudon's first season at the event's helm.

While 2007's showpiece military extravaganza paid tribute to the Diamond Wedding Anniversary of HM the Queen and HRH Prince Philip, as well as celebrating 150 years of military music, the mood was noticeably multinational as participants from Africa, America and Asia enriched proceedings with their talented multicultural contributions.

Show-stopping international attractions included the Band of the Moscow Military Conservatoire – with a much anticipated Tattoo debut – and, making what was also their first visit to the Scottish capital, Taipei's First Girls Senior High School Honour Guard & Drum Corps.

Key highlights also featured comprise of the Household Cavalry's Mounted Band of the Blues and Royals, astride 30 Irish Draught horses led by a specially bred Shire Cross Drum horse, a Commonwealth Highland Dance troupe who assemble with the tattoo's own Highland Spring Dancers, the Bands of the Royal Regiment of Scotland and the Royal Artillery along with the Middlesex County Volunteers Fifes & Drums from Massachusetts in the USA.

The 90-minute production also showcases contributions from the Royal Army of Oman, the Auckland Police from New Zealand, London Docklands Imps Motorcycle Display Team, as well as celebrated Scottish Regiments such as the Royal Scots Dragoon Guards, who formed part of the elite massed Pipes & Drums.

1000 international performers combined with the very best of modern production technology, fireworks and theatrical special effects to present an electrifying musical spectacular.

GURKHA FESTIVAL OF MUSIC 2007

DVD – £14.00

Each year the Band of the Brigade of Gurkhas presents a two-day concert in the Duke of York's Military School, Dover. A different guest band/choir is selected to mass with them.

In 2008 The Old Comrades band was chosen. This band consists of a standard military band made up of former Royal Marines musicians who still reside in and around the town of Deal, the former home of the Royal Marines before they left for Portsmouth in 1996.

The Old Comrades band was the inception of the owner of this web site, Stephen Misson, in 2005 and performs just once a year on the Deal Memorial Bandstand where they attract a massive audience of some 2500 people partly because of their method of performing — no rehearsals whatsoever!

The Gurkha Festival is normally a sell-out performance; with the inclusion of The Old Comrades, this was guaranteed. With only one short rehearsal the concert was a huge success as is evident on this DVD. Both bands enjoyed this unique experience immensely — unique because this, unlike the original idea of the Old Comrades, will never happen again.

Guest conductor on the Friday night (the night of this recording) was Captain David Cole who took the band through his arrangement of The Final Countdown.

The programme also included solo items by soprano Margaret Threadgold and a special guest interlude by the Corps of Drums from the Band of HM Royal Marines, Commando Training Centre, Lympstone.

THE HISTORY OF THE ROYAL TOURNAMENT 1880 – 1999 DVD – £15.95

HORSE GUARDS PARADE (LIGHT DIVISION) DVD – £15.95

TROOPS TAKING PART: The Light Infantry Coronna Band; The Light Infantry Salamanca Band; The Normandy Band; The Royal Green Jackets; The Peninsula Band The Royal Green Jackets; The Light Infantry Burma Band; Bugles of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Battalions The Light Infantry; Junior Buglers of The Light Division Depot; Bugles of the 5th , 6th, 7th, 8th (Volunteer) Battalions The Light Infantry; Bugles of the 4th and 5th (Volunteer) Battalions The Royal Green Jackets.

The Sounding of Retreat has its origins in the 16th Century, an ancient tradition that lives on today. The Retreat featured on this recording is performed by the Massed Bands and Bugles of the Light Division. The Light Division traces its origins to the 18th century when ‘Light Companies’ were formed to move at speed over inhospitable terrain and protect the main forces by skirmishing tactics.

Orders on the battlefield were communicated by bugle calls. The Light Division today traditionally marches at a fast speed and still uses the distinctive sound of the silver bugle. The complex high speed marching display represented here at London’s Horse Guards Parade is among the most exciting sights and sounds to be seen and heard in the world of military music.

MARCHING TOGETHER DVD – £15.95

Five different bands on parade at the Bedfordshire Musical pageant. Four hundred musicians combine to present a brilliant spectacle on a grand scale demonstrating the impressive range and versatility of today’s Army Bands. Running time 125 minutes.
